

Groyne seen as problem COUNCIL ACTS ON BEACH DANGERS

Williamstown councillors on Monday night decided to offer equipment to the Williamstown Life Saving Club to help make beach waters safer.

The council acted after a weekend of drama and tragedy at the Williamstown beach. The hot weather drew big crowds there.

An eight years old boy was drowned and at least six people rescued — some while unconscious.

The councillors think urgent action is needed. They hope that something can be done before this weekend. They are prepared to offer the club anchors, floats and lines to mark off hazardous waters and suitable portable signs.

They are also seeking long-term action that could mean alterations to the groyne, the man-made breakwater that was put in to protect beach sand.

A dangerous rip sets in near the groyne at times. The people rescued by lifesavers at the weekend were in this water.

Sign in four languages

A big council sign in four languages warns bathers of the danger of deep water near the groyne.

A spokesman of the lifesaving club, to clarify events at the weekend, said that the drowned boy was not pulled out from the rip area but in the vicinity of Forster Street, a considerable distance to the east.

The lifesaving club's committee also met on Monday night but deferred making any announcement. A sub-committee is making further inquiries.

Will be welcome

The club will welcome council help to bolster its own strained resources. Urgent meetings between club and council officers will take place this week.

The Mayor, Cr. Leo Hoffmann, reported to the council on Monday night about weekend happenings.

"I know there is a problem with the groyne," he said. "He recalled that the Department of Ports and Harbours put it in and that it had been effective in building up beach sand again."

"It may be that some correction to the groyne is needed but action should be taken by the people who are responsible."

"I would like more sand everywhere. I would also like no drownings."

Cr. Hoffmann paid a tribute to the Williamstown Life Saving Club for the way its members got people out of trouble at the weekend.

Cr. Tom Radford moved that the council act to help the lifesaving club to get any equipment and warning signs. His motion also called for a meeting of interested parties to seek a long-term solution.

Cr. Peter Lalor said some engineering solution appeared to be needed at the western end of the beach — perhaps the groyne should be extended.

The statement by the lifesaving club on Saturday afternoon said the first rescue was about 2.30 p.m. on Saturday. A child was given mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and oxygen.

One club member, Cameron Taylor, had to be given oxygen for exhaustion after helping Mr. Con Milhoris, of Melbourne Road, a very big, heavy man.

The drowned boy was Mark Lundberg, eight, of Hyde Street, Yarraville.

Others helped by club patrols were Disko Kalajdic, four, of Kingston Street, Yarraville; Bill Zavalas, about 40, of Bourke Street Footscray; John Mojic, of Johnston Street, Newport; Sophie Papas, 18, of Sussex Street, Yarraville and Giuseppe Gregori, of McBride Street, Footscray.

$1114 FOR DARWIN

The recent Sunday picnic game at the Williamstown oval between local police and publicans raised a total of $1114 for Darwin relief.

"We expected something like this," said Senior Constable Glyn Ellis, one of the organisers. "We're told that everyone had a really good day, too".

'Pot' man won't accept bond

A young man convicted in Williamstown Court last week of possessing Indian hemp refused to enter into a $200 bond to be of good behaviour for 12 months.

"As a first offender, you are entitled to one chance — but only one," said Mr. G. Hoare, SM, to Glenn Angus Smith, 22, builders' laborer, of Laverton Street, Williamstown. He then suggested the bond.

Smith, heavily-bearded and long haired, said: "I am going to Western Australia and Darwin and overseas places in eight weeks."

Mr. Hoare said: "If you will not enter into a bond is there any reason why I shouldn't fine you?"

"That would perhaps debar you from some of the exotic countries overseas, would it not?"

Mr. Hoare fined Smith $50.

Two Australia Day babies were born to Altona mothers Mrs. Doris Cini and Mrs. Dawn Johnson at the Williamstown Hospital last week.

Mrs. Cini (right) is pictured with baby Rachel Lee, born at 1.07 p.m. Mrs. Johnson's baby Steven Robert was born at 2.35 p.m.

A Maltese who came to Australia 15 years ago, Mrs. Cini has three other children — Joseph 15, Mary 9 and Sandra 6. She lives in McIntosh Road, North Altona and is the wife of Mr. Tony Cini.

Mrs. Johnson's baby is her first. She is the wife of Mr. Neville Johnson and lives in Sargood Street, Altona.

Constable Rodney Boyd said he spoke to Smith when Smith was in a car parked at the Altona sports complex on the night of August 5 last year.

Const. Boyd said he noticed some pipes (produced) on the back window ledge of the car.

Had more at home

Asked about the pipes, Smith replied that they belonged to friends. He said they were used for smoking marijuana.

Later, with Smith present, Boyd searched the car and found concealed behind the dashboard a plastic bag containing marijuana.

Asked if he had any more, Smith replied that he had some in his room at home. Police found another packet there.

Senior Detective James Daly said Smith told him he had smoked marijuana in a reefer.

"I got some from a bloke I met in Portland," Smith said. "And I got some seeds from a man at Torquay."

Daly said Smith signed the record of interview, but maintained that he did not put the marijuana behind the dashboard of his car.

Daly told Mr. Hoare that there was only a "relatively small" quantity of the drug in the packets. Smith gave no trouble.

Smith pleaded not guilty. To Mr. Hoare he said: "I only tried it twice."

And he said he was no longer associating with the same people.

John wins flying course

● John Webster, 18, of Ararat Street, North Altona, is one of six young men who have won flying scholarships.

John, an apprentice radio tradesman, is pictured (right) with flying instructor Graeme Hodges, of the Civil Flying School.

The RAAF gave the scholarships to members of the RAAF Air Training Corps. They are being taught in Beechcraft Musketeers at Moorabbin.

The scholarships entitle them to 65 hours of flying training.

To qualify for a scholarship a boy must be fit to RAAF aircrew standards and also to show leadership potential.

Altona's John Webster is a member of ATC No. 11 Flight, Footscray. He hopes to join the RAAF as a radio technician.

Val's Column

Hello Girls,

In answer to those of you with hairy problems, girls, even these days of the liberated woman, some of us agonise over hair that grows with indiscretion in all the wrong places.

Can it still be said man is hairy, woman is to be hairless? Whatever the season it would not be nice to see the cover girls on our favorite magazines sporting a hairy growth on legs under arms or in a lipstick advertisement.

There are certain "old wives tales" talked about the different ways to remove unwanted hair. There is however no positive proof their either tweezing, waxing or depilatory cream promotes hair growth. (If they did someone would be making a fortune growing hair on bald men).

Shaving does not promote hair growth either, but it does cut the hair off blunt leaving a coarse stubble that looks thicker as it regrows. Also it is easy to nick the skin and that means a bandage.

I suggest a cream or wax remover. Creams "melt" the hair away, even a little down into the hair follicle so it is some time before you are troubled again.

Cyclax Bare depilatory cream gently removes superfluous hair from any part of your body. It is safe and effective and leaves your skin soft and satin smooth. Then Cyclax have a depilatory wax. Rub, brush and wax to be gently heated, applied and then removed — hair and all.

Dorothy Gray have Better Off creams. One cream for the face and another Better Off for the legs. Nudit have a similar idea, Nudit for the face, and Nudit for the legs.

Another instant hair remover is My Epil, in a cold wax form.

Girls, whichever you decide on do take particular heed of each one's instructions and follow accordingly. Firstly taking heed and doing a sensitivity test as they suggest. It is better than a fat lip!

Summer specials again from Cyclax. But please be quick, so as not to be disappointed. These are the three popular Beauty Clear products. Cleanser, Medicated Lotion and Acne lotion. Trial size for those who hesitate.

While obtaining your camera needs you could browse through our cassette range now — all $3.99. We have records too, if you only have a player. Terrific prices!

DOG SAVAGES WOMAN

— But case not proved

An elderly woman told a magistrate last Thursday how a black dog attacked her twice outside a house in Laverton Street, Williamstown.

Mrs. Helen Tregear, of Laverton Street, Williamstown, alleged owner of the dog, was charged in the Williamstown Court with a breach of the Dog Act.

Mr. G. Hoare SM said: "I must be satisfied beyond reasonable doubt that the dog which attacked this lady was Mrs. Tregear's. I am not satisfied. The information is dismissed."

Mrs. Anne Croft, of Wilkins Street, Newport, said the dog attacked her as she was walking to the hospital on November 28 last.

"As I was passing this house in Laverton Street I saw three great Danes inside the front fence. The black dog was on the nature strip."

"I raised my elbow and it grabbed hold of me — for such a long time, it seemed. I yelled for help."

"A man hurried to my help, but the dog let go."

"A little while afterwards, the dog jumped at me again and grabbed me by the shoulder. I was very shaken and sore. It was a frightening experience."

Thomas Meatchem, health inspector, said he interviewed Mrs. Tregear about the attack. He said she admitted that the dog — a cross-bred kelpie registered in her name — was hers.

Mr. Meatchem said he had seen the dog before and spoken to Mrs. Tregear about it.

Mrs. Tregear did not appear in court.

Seniors' aid for Darwin

Members of the Altona Senior Citizen's Club have raised $112.70 towards the Darwin appeal.

The secretary of the club, Mrs. Alice Dickson, said members had recently enjoyed a trip through Narre Warren to Olinda.

Two buses were used for the trip and members appreciated a stopover at "Churinga", the William Ricketts aboriginal sanctuary where they admired works of art by aboriginal artists.

Tuesday's special effort was won by Mr. J. Shearer with Mr. A. Hansen second.

Any resident of Altona who is 60 years or over is welcome to join the club.

Mr. Ching took punt on Altona

Mr. K. C. Ching, proprietor of Altona's first and only Chinese restaurant, is satisfied with his decision in 1970 to take a chance on Altona's "reputation".

Born in Canton, China, Mr. Ching (pictured below) completed his education in Australia, helping his father to serve fruit and vegetables at Victoria Market after arriving in 1948.

"I knew Altona had something of a reputation."

"It's a gamble — here's luck," Mr. Ching told himself in deciding to give Altona a go.

"I had plenty of experience by then in other Chinese restaurants around Melbourne."

"I'm not sorry I came, now. I wouldn't say it's been successful, but being a family business, we manage to survive."

Because Altona is a small business centre, it would not be possible to support a big business, Mr. Ching said.

"Since the police opened a divisional headquarters station here things have improved in every respect.

"It proves the police are doing a good job. I think they understand the youth problems and perhaps parents are understanding the problems of their children better now."

Mr. Ching said he thought there should be more creative entertainment for the young people.

"After eight o'clock there is no one around at night, and they have nothing to do but amuse themselves."

Mr. Ching has six children aged between six and 14 who all attend St. Mary's School in West Melbourne.

Chinese people themselves have a reputation for being lucky gamblers — let's hope Mr. Ching continues to get value from his decision to back Altona.

Butcher fined over cabana

A sample of cabana made in Newport shop contained more than three times the permitted quantity of preservative, a health inspector told the Williamstown Court last Thursday.

Leon Telman, of Melbourne Road, Newport, retail butcher and small-goods manufacturer, is the proprietor of the shop where Robert Major bought 1 lb. of cabana on December 5.

Mr. Major told the court that analysis showed that it contained 3.6 grains of potassium nitrate. The Health Act permitted one grain.

When told of the result of the analysis, Telman seemed surprised and he didn't make the cabana himself. One of the staff must have made a mistake, he said.

Mr. G. Hoare, SM, fined Telman $80, with $13 costs. Telman, a first offender, did not appear in court.

THIEVES RAID PARKED CARS

Beach robberies wave

Thieves working along the beachfront from Altona to Williamstown have broken into many cars during the hot spell and stolen money well in excess of $500. Most of the victims have been visitors from nearby western suburbs.

In most instances, the driver's side vent window was smashed. Many thefts occurred later in the afternoon.

Cars of the victims were parked on The Esplanade, Williamstown, and The Esplanade, Altona.

Most lost money. But some also reported the loss of valuable watches and transistor radios.

Nearly 30 people have reported thefts from cars in Williamstown and Altona during the hot spell.

Detective-Sergeants Ron Vienna (Williamstown) and Bob Richards (Laverton CIB) are heading inquiries.

They said these thefts tended to occur when people crowded to beaches in hot weather. They urged motorists not to leave valuables in cars.

Third time unlucky

"I think you have a drinking problem," said Mr. G. Hoare, SM, to a young man just convicted — for the third time — of a .05 driving offence.

"But it was my birthday, sir, and I don't usually drink," replied John Darcy Connors, 22, of Violet Street, Williamstown.

"Well, you must be unlucky every time you drink," said the SM. "And this time you automatically lose your licence for two years."

And he fined Connors $120 for the .05 offence, and $12 for failing to carry probationary plates on his car.

Constable Peter Day stopped Connors in Ferguson Street, Williamstown, at 7.15 p.m. on Sunday, November 24.

Const. Day told Williamstown Court last Thursday that Connors had a probationary licence. When asked why his car had no P plates, he replied: "They must have fallen off."

Questioned later, Connors said he had about four 13-oz. cans of beer at the beach during the day.

His breath test reading was .170.

He pleaded guilty to the two offences.

Mr. Hoare said he could pay off the fines at the rate of $10 a week.

Jan. 1 drunk 'not Crusoe'

"Well, he wasn't Robinson Crusoe," said Mr. G. Hoare, SM, when he heard of the young man's performance in Oakbank Street, Newport, at 3.30 a.m. on New Year's Day.

Senior Const. Alan Hornby told the Williamstown Court last Thursday that he saw Graeme Cole, 21, of Wilkins Street, Newport, staggering along the footpath.

His eyes were bloodshot and he smelt of alcohol, said Sen.-Const. Hornby. Asked where he'd been, Cole took about 10 seconds to answer, "To a party."

When asked his name and address, he shouted loudly and used obscene expressions.

No other people were about at the time.

"You were locked up, presumably for your own safety," Mr. Hoare told Cole. "Convicted and discharged" on each of two charges of being drunk in a public place and using indecent language.

Girl, 15, held by pistol

A 15-year-old schoolgirl from Altona North was held at gunpoint and used as a shield last week during a hold up at the ANZ Bank in Barrack Square, Altona North.

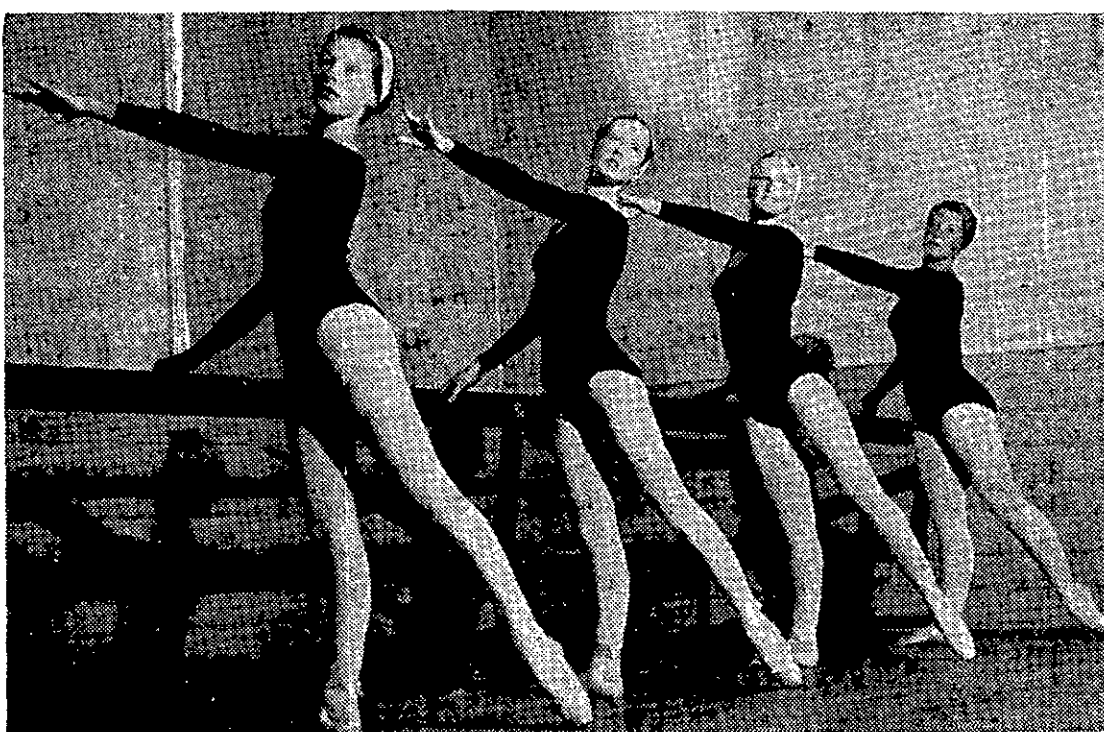

A man armed with a .38 revolver and dressed in khaki overalls, a balaclava, sunglasses and rubber gloves held up two tellers and a local shopkeeper.

He escaped in a stolen car with $4013 and a .38 revolver.

In the haul was about $1000 the bandit took from the local shopkeeper, who was about to deposit it in the bank.

Two young women customers, the shopkeeper and eight staff members were in the bank when the bandit struck.

DANCING GIRLS ARE ON AGAIN

• School was already well under way for these girls last week. They are students of the Williamstown School of Ballet, which holds its classes at the primary school in Cecil Street.

The students learn classical ballet, modern jazz ballet, character and pointe work to give them overall dance training.

From left the girls are: Carol Tippet, 15, of Altona; Wendy Davies, 16, of Seaholme; Andrea Kellett, 16, of Williamstown; and Joanne Blokkeens, 15, of Altona.

Altona fire risk rises

Thirty-one fires were reported in the municipality of Altona to January 28 this year compared with 10 reported during the whole of January, 1974.

Although none of the fires has been regarded by the brigade as serious, the increase this year occurred despite the absence of heat-wave conditions.

The question of fire risk resulting from Altona's dry paddocks was raised by Cr. Les Crofts at council's last meeting in December.

Cr. Crofts said that excess rainfall had resulted in a high growth of grass in the municipality's broad acres.

He said he would like to know what had been done to minimise the risk.

City engineer, Mr. Ralph Simmons said the area in yesterday the guide included addresses of doctors, chemists, churches, emergency services, parks, gardens, schools, &c., in the vicinity of the hostel.

Committee members would have the chance to mix socially with the refugees tomorrow (Thursday), when they were to be entertained by the management of PRA, at afternoon tea after an inspection of the plant, Mr. Slee said. Because all those at the hostel intended returning to Darwin eventually, it was necessary they remain a composite community he said. But they needed to be encouraged to use facilities in the area. Members of the clergy would be meeting the members of the various churches and working with the committee, Mr. Slee said.

interfere with his driving licence.Mr. J. Wallace, SM, had heard charges of using indecent language and being drunk and disorderly in public against Colin Bray-brook, of Aitken Street,
Williamstown, who pleaded guilty to both.He told Braybrook if he was going to drink

30 years work for youth

The Williamstown Youth Centre, re-opening on Monday, February 10, is now completing its 30th year of operation, having worked with voluntary personnel entirely.

Thousands of boys and girls have passed through the centre learning gymnastics, calisthenics, crafts, hobbies, weight training, ballroom dancing and developing friendships.

The centre has operated five nights a week for most of the 30 years.

A few vacancies exist for adults who would be able to help in the typing classes, craft and hobby classes and as canteen attendants. Parents are invited to become involved in some small way in the welfare of their children.

The centre affiliated with the Victorian Association of Youth Clubs, is classed as an open youth club, and is open to all boys and girls seven to 18.

Women are invited to join the auxiliary, which meets every second Thursday at 2 p.m., starting the first week in February, for cards and afternoon tea.

Visitors are welcome.

Armstrong (right) is pictured with, from left; Albion's junior chairman Pat Coyle, Steven Gale, Paul Coyle, David Wilson and Mark Coyle. Armstrong promised to make a return appearance when the season resumes. This time, he says, he will bring either Pat Bannon of Alexander or Steve Walker Hellos with him.

KONDARIOS TO JOIN J.U.S.T.?

By LAURIE SCHWAB

Keilor Austria's best defender, Jim Kondarios, wants to join Footscray J.U.S.T.

Kondarios is believed to have told J.U.S.T. officials that he will not play for Austria this year.

I understand there is only one club he is interested in, and that's J.U.S.T.

Kondarios joined Austria after his former club, Croatia, was expelled from the Victorian Soccer Federation.

During Austria's worst periods, it was Kondarios who held the team together, whether he was playing at centre back or in attack.

He is tall, strong, fast and a master of the sliding tackle.

If J.U.S.T. succeeds in getting him — the price will be considerable — Kondarios will pay at centre back alongside Andy Kazi.

This would release Jim Kriaris to a midfield role.

Kondarios is one of at least four Austria players who have decided to leave the club since it was relegated from State League.

The others are goalkeeper Fred Schul who is training with Mooroolbark and Hans Hinze and Alan Newton who are both keen to join Keilor City.

It will be interesting to see how J.U.S.T. lines up in its first Ampol Cup match against Hellas at Olympic Park tomorrow night (Thursday).

With a wildly reshuffled team which featured goalkeeper Jimmy Milisavljevic at centre back, J.U.S.T. won the State League Cup last season.

Whether coach Cedo Cirkovic will stick to a good thing remains to be seen.

Another question which is so far unanswered is: Will Frank Micic play in the Ampol Cup?

Last year, he rested until the start of the League season.

However, former State player Marjan Lopatic should be back after a long lay-off and his overlapping from left back will lighten the load on the midfielders.

For its first Ampol Cup match, J.U.S.T. has drawn the strongest side in the League — Hellas.

Full of confidence after winning the 1974 championship, Hellas has never had it so good.

In an off-season coup, it bought World Cup hero Jimmy Mackay for $5000 from Hakoah Eastern Suburbs, imported 19-year-old Alan Quinn from Hearts in Scotland and bought goalkeeper John Kennedy from APIA-Leichhardt and forward George Campbell from Juventus Canberra.

In addition, it has promising youngster, Arthur Xanthopoulos back after a lay-off due to studies.

On the debit side, John Bedford is gone, Ulysses Kokkinos is on the transfer list, Nick Nechvoglod is back in Adelaide and Peter Bourne is recovering from an operation.

Likely teams are: J.U.S.T.: Milisavljevic, Parrott, Kazi, Kriaris, Lopatic, Lukic, Micic, Martin, Zoraja, Rujevic, Buljevic.

HELLAS: Peterson Kalafatides, Walker, Xanthopoulos, Pirzas, Marshall, Daperis, Mackay, Savage, Armstrong, Campbell.

Polonia v. Courage

It looks gloomy for Polonia.

There's talk that Henry Siwka won't play anymore. Henry Czerniecki has already retired and Ron Horfiniak has shown little interest.

In addition, we're still waiting for that loudly-hailed Polish recruit Eddy Lerch.

The only thing Polonia can do to fill the gaps is to promote even more youngsters to the senior team.

The effect is that the team becomes weaker.

Mike de Bruyckere has done an admirable job since he took over as coach last year, but even he can't perform miracles. And he'll be virtually helpless against GC-Courage at Olympic Park on Saturday night.

Courage may have been unimpressive against Alexander but it benefited from the game and will benefit even more from the return of John Gardiner.

Joe Thompson from Irish Club Distillery had his first run last week, so we can expect even more from him.

Paul Murphy can't possibly play as badly again, and we should see more from Frank McArdle, Barry Webb and Paul Deeming.

Hakoah v. Melbourne

Hakoah and Melbourne are, to an extent, mystery teams at this stage. We don't know what effect new coach Alex Purdie has had on Hakoah and we don't know how Melbourne will fare without Joe Palinkas who has been transferred to St. George Budapest for more than $6000.

Also, there are question marks over Ian McCarthy and Duncan Cummings.

McCarthy told me late last year he wanted to join a different club.

Rumours about Cummings have included that he is going to England for a while and that he won't be able to play soccer because of studies.

Hakoah looks the winner at this stage.

But there are dark clouds on the horizon.

I hear that Hakoah striker Mike Micevski wants to try his luck in Sydney.

I'm tipping that this former Altona City star won't be seen here much longer, providing someone in Sydney can rake up what promises to be an exorbitant transfer fee.

Wilhelmina v. Juventus: 3. Gorrie (Juventus). 2. Cole (Wil.). 1. Lynn (Wil.).

Alexander v. Courage: 3. Karapatsos (Alex.). 2. Maitland (Courage). 1. Webster (Alex.).

Results: Wilhelmina 2 (Lynn 2) Juventus 1 (Gorrie).

Alexander 1 (Donachie), Courage 0.

The B4 side was the club's only winner, they defeated Buckley Park 102-77. This win will give them confidence when they clash with section leaders, Williamstown, on Saturday.

T. Reid (s), S. Fell, H. Blair, T. Atkins, 32-12; R. Don (s), A. Stafford, P. Kelly, A. McDonald 27-26; H. Deacon (s), J. Carr, L. Spackman, N. Cartwright, 26-17; W. Inglis (s), C. Williams, C. McDonald, D. Nicholls, 13-22.

107 STAND WINS FOR SEAGULLS

Williamstown Firsts beat Brunswick, sub-district finals prospect, by three wickets and 42 runs. The club's Seconds and Thirds also won at the weekend.

Resuming at 0/8, Town firsts reached 25 when Bert Park was caught behind by Magpie skipper Tom O'Neill off Taylor.

Kevin Tweedley joined Hewet and added 35 before Tweedley was caught and bowled by McLean.

Les Meyers suffered the same fate.

Les Joslin and Hewet put on 20 and then Joslin spooned a catch to Hines.

After tea Robin Dyson, in great form, drove the ball for six over the Morris Street fence.

Hewet went for 45 — a nice hand.

George Shaw joined Dyson in a match-winning partnership.

This was a 107 get-together — the best for many a day at the Williamstown ground.

Shaw was stumped when going for a big hit. His 54 was his best score for the firsts.

Williamstown are making their run too late and only something like a miracle can get them into the finals.

SCORES:

Park, c O'Neill, b Taylor, 5; Tweedley and b McLean, 22; Meyers c and b McLean, 1; Joslin, c Hines, b Prior 16; Hewet c O'Neill b Prior 4; Shaw std O'Neill, b Hines 54; Dyson, lbw Hillhouse 55; Horsburg, n.o. 1; Bill Fowler, n.o. 7; Sundries 12; 7/218.

Brunswick made 176.

In the Seconds game at Brunswick Phillip McTaggart and keeper Graeme Smith put Willy on the way, with an opening partnership of 65. Phillip went for 21. Smith continued on until making 55.

In a slump they went to 5 for 98 then John Fowler and Jim Hallett added a dynamic 33 in a quarter of an hour. Hallett finished with 22 and John Fowler was n.o. 13. At the end of 33.6 overs at tea Williamstown were 8 for 154.

Brunswick started nice.

Vikings train

Altona City Football Club will start training for season 1975 next Monday at Grant Reserve.

Training will be supervised by senior coach Mal Tisdale and assistant coach John Duncan.

Duncan, who was successful coach of last year's reserves premiership side, was re-appointed this week.

All players and intending players are invited to attend. For early sessions, running shoes will be worn.

The Vikings are hopeful that several members of last year's reserves and Under-17 teams will develop into good senior players this year.

The under-17s will this year play on Sundays. Last year's time slot of 10 a.m. Saturday was thought to be responsible for the shortage of players, and teams, in the competition.

Bob Jones will once again be in charge of the Vikings under-17 team.

ly, but Andrew Gibson struck and with remarkable bowling took 7 for 52 runs. Jim Hallett 1 for 19 and John Fowler 2 for 10 helped to get them out for 108.

It is ironic that now Andrew Gibson has struck this purple patch of form his school desires him to play of a Saturday. But he could be available for the finals in which the Blue and Golds seem assured of a place.

Recovering from 2 for 0 against Broadmeadows, the Thirds were 7 for 191 at tea with Peter Thatcher making a dashing 69 not out. Broadmeadows were then bundled out for 103 with Glenn Hancock taking 5 for 32 in his second game with the club.

NEWPORT HUMBLE NORTH

Altona North Cricket Club were humbled at home by Newport in a one-day game on Saturday when they managed only 83 in reply to 7-129 by the visitors.

R. Simpson 18, I. Walker 16, T. Carroll 12 and R. Skiller 12 were the only batsmen to reach double figures. The loss has made it hard for North to reach the finals.

The second eleven, away to Newport, had an excellent outright victory. After dismissing Newport last week for 139 North compiled 154 with Nick Doria getting 39, P. Costello 27, P. Lelkes 21, W. Black 16, G. Seers 12 and D. Porter 11.

A great team effort saw North dismiss Newport for 80 in their second innings with grand bowling by Don Porter 4-25 and Paul Lelkes 4-47.

With 15 overs to get the necessary 66 runs to win, controlled batting by P. Costello 28 n.o., G. Seers 10 and G. McGorlick 20 helped North pass their score with seven balls to go.

The third eleven, away to Old Paradians, had another win, but not without battling hard.

Batting first, North were no wickets for 50 runs in the first six overs, thanks to 44 by captain S. Stewart before falling in a hole to be all out for 108.

S. Burgess contributed 15, P. Carroll 12 and J. Campbell 12.

Old Paradians started off smartly and at one stage were 1-51. Things looked grim for North but Barry Fitzpatrick with his best-ever figures for North, captured 6-14 from 10 overs to dismiss Paradians for 82.

S. Stewart 2-11 and J. Anthony 2-19 took the other wickets. This win

HURDLER DOOLEY SHINES

Williamstown Amateur Athletic Club member Shane Dooley ran a brilliant race to win a heat of the 400 metres hurdles in club record time in the Melbourne University group's 1974-75 track-and-field finals on Saturday.

Shane ran the distance in 56.3 sec. to win the first heat with Tony Gaggino recording his best personal time of 58.7 sec. to gain second placing in the second heat.

Teams that made the finals were: B-grade, under 17 A and B, under 15, under-14 and under-13.

In the 200 metres, Ian Jackson finished third in the first heat in 23.0 sec., Paul Jamieson won the second in 23.2 and David Jamieson was just tipped for first place in the third heat.

Jackson produced a great finish to win the 800 metres in 1 min. 56.4 sec. followed by David Jamieson in a personal best time of 2 min. 1.9 sec.
